

Your path to the Start-up Incubator

Are you ready to embark on a journey together at our Start-up Incubator? If you want to become a part of our vibrant community, there are a few challenges you will first have to face. Candidates must go through a two-phase selection process before being accepted.

What can you expect?

1) Preliminary assessment

This is where we first check whether you meet all the formal requirements to be accepted. We also look at how convincing your idea is in terms of content. To participate in the selection process, your start-up must already be founded or be founded within no more than two months of admission and be based in South Tyrol. In addition, you should have already entered the market or be about to do so.

So far, so good? Then download our participation application here (ITA – GER), prepare all the required documents and send them to incubator@noi.bz.it. The application deadline is on 21/10/2022 at noon.

Then the real fun begins. Once you have met the necessary criteria, the Start-up Incubator Team will assess whether you will advance to the second round based on the documents you have submitted. How does this work? You must score at least 30 out of a possible 40 points on the following four evaluation criteria (0 to 10 points each): team composition, business idea, market potential, realistic financial strategy, and sources of funding.

2) Presentation to the admissions committee

This is when the start-ups will make their presentations to the admissions committee. Then, based on the four evaluation criteria mentioned above, the committee will decide whether you and your team qualify to use the Start-up Incubator's services and programmes for the next three years.
